Theft of Brother's Car Sends Saunders To State Penal Farm

Judge Grover Gehant Re- vokes Youth's Proba- tion This Morning

Richard C. Saunders, 21, was sentenced to a year at the Vandalia state farm after his probation was revoked by Judge Grover W. Gehant this morning at a hearing in Lee County court.

Saunders was charged with stealing the car of his brother, Lee, in Fergus Falls, Minn., a short time ago and driving it to Dixon.

The petition of State's Attorney Morry C. Pires also charged he drove the car with license plates on it which were stolen from Frank Schwank and Glenn Laidig.

Admits Taking Plates

In a signed statement, Saunders admitted taking the plates and using them on his brother's car. He also admitted forging the names of two brothers to two $50 checks.

Saunders had been placed on five years probation here after he was brought into court on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Along with LeRoy Meador, Saunders was arrested at the corner of First street and Galena avenue at 12 15 a. m. Tuesday by Merchant Officer Edward Trotter.

Meador, who was held for questioning, has since been released. Sheriff Gilbert Finch said.

Ex-Cons' Body Is Found Near Joliet

Joliet, Ill., Oct. 14—(AP)—The partly decomposed body of an ex-convict who had been missing from his Chicago home since Sept. 28 was found yesterday in a ditch about two miles from the spot where his car was destroyed by fire last month.

Dr. Elwood Kingston, Will county coroner, said the man had been shot three times in the head.

The body was identified as that of Victor Malek, 41, a bartender of Chicago. His 39-year-old bride of seven months told Chicago police he left home the night of Sept. 28 after saying he was going out for a while. She said she had not seen him since.

The body, face down in a ditch between Beecher and Peotone, Ill., was found by Emil Wilkening, a farmer of Beecher. He said he had passed the spot several times during the past two weeks without noticing the body.

Capt. William Morris of the Illinois state police, said he recalled that about 5 a. m., on Sept. 29 his office received a report from a farmer that an automobile was afire on the highway. He said the interior of the car was burned out and that a check of the license plates showed they had been issued to Malek.

Records at Stateville, Ill., prison showed that Malek was committed there Jan. 4, 1946 to serve a sentence for burglary and was released May 31, 1947.

Malek's wife, Hazel, said she knew nothing of his past and "never pried into his affairs."

Lutheran Church May Not Join Big Group

Philadelphia, Oct. 14—(AP)—The United Lutheran Church in America has gone on record against applying for membership in the proposed National Council of the Churches of Christ in the United States of America.

However, the 576 delegates to the ULCA 16th biennial convention yesterday did not close the door on eventual membership in the proposed body.

They authorized the executive board to suggest to the planning commission of the national council a conference to work out details that would eliminate objections the ULCA now has to the proposed organization's constitution.

In a vote yesterday the delegates turned down a proposal to increase the church's 1949 budget voted at the last biennial convention in Cleveland, by $1,500,000.

Morrison's 'Phone Strikers Are Warned

Morrison, Ill., Oct. 14—(AP)—The Independent Morrison Telephone Company notified its 24 striking union employees today that their jobs would be filled unless they returned to work by next Monday.

The AFL-affiliated Electrical Workers union is seeking a wage hike which the company said would boost operating costs $30,000 a year and necessitate a $1 monthly rate increase to its 2,200 customers in Morrison and Fulton.

The company has offered to raise wage 9 per cent, but not exceeding 10 cents an hour.

Dewey Hit By Tomato

Truckload of Live Chickens Wrecked

A truck loaded with 3,500 live chickens was badly damaged when it turned over at the junction of state route 64 and 26 north of Polo this morning at 6:45 while en route from Cedar Falls, Iowa, to Chicago. The driver, Dallas Hurlbut, escaped without injury, but several hundred chickens were killed or injured, while others were thrown from the overturned truck and roamed about along the highway and fields.

Hurlbut approached the intersection of the two highways, east bound, and when he turned south on route 26, the trailer swerved and rolled over on its side on the paving. Two of the big Reuter wrecking cranes were summoned from Dixon and righted the truck. Sections of state highway department snow fence was formed into a large circular pen in which the wandering chickens were rounded up, placed in coops and sent to the Chicago market. Sgt. Phillip Schermerhorn and Officers Harry Hardesty of Oregon and Robert Reed of Polo were at the scene of the accident and detoured traffic around the wreck until the highway was cleared.

Mt. Vernon Tomato Throwers Are 'Sorry'

Mt. Vernon, Ill., Oct. 14—(AP)—Four teen-aged youngsters threw three tomatoes at Gov. Thomas E. Dewey for the "fun of it" and each said, "I'm sorry," police reported today.

The Republican presidential nominee was splattered along with others by ripe tomatoes during a rear platform talk here Tuesday night.

Chief of Police Verner L. Pigg and Capt. R. C. Winder of the Illinois State Police said today the four boys, ranging in ages from 14 to 17, each signed the same statement in which they called their act a prank.

"I got fun out of it. I wouldn't do it again. I'm sorry it took place," the statement said.

The officers said the Mt. Vernon boys were given a lecture on Americanism, then they were released on their pledges that they would never do it again and would not permit others to do such a thing.

Bomb Damages Four Stores in Chicago

Chicago, Oct. 14—(AP)—A small home made bomb tossed into an alleyway damaged four stores on the west side early today.

Windows were broken in a photographic studio at 3711 1/2 Fullerton avenue, in the heating machinery store of Frank Yarnik at 3713, in a food store at 3715 and a sweet shop at 3709.

Yarnik, a bachelor, lives in quarters behind his store. He told police he had resigned from a steamfitter's union about two years ago and is employing non-union help.

Three Tragic Deaths End Dispute Over Converting Barn Into House

Cleveland, Oct. 14—(AP)—Violent death has settled the dispute between Boyard B. Jacob, 37, who wanted to convert a barn into a home and officials of nearby Beachwood Village.

Cornerer S. R. Gerber blamed "emotional instability" for the action of Jacob, an insurance broker, in shooting his wife, Eleanor, 34, and their son, Jeffrey, 7, and then himself. Gerber said the shootings took place Monday night. The bodies were found by a mailman yesterday afternoon.

Use of Armory for Some Gymnasium Activities Will Be Sought

The regular monthly meeting of the board of education was held last evening at the high school. In the absence of President John K. Hatchelder, Carl Matson served as president. Dr. Edward Murphy was unable to attend the meeting. The board voted to approve the use of the Armory to relieve congestion in the overcrowded high school gymnasium schedule and to conduct freshman and junior varsity basketball practice at the Armory, with the varsity cage squad and Girls' Athletic Association using the school gym. Superintendent Lancaster was authorized to confer with the Armory officials to secure the use of the showers and dressing rooms for the season.

L. J. Welch appeared before the board and called attention to the necessity of making repairs on two residential properties belonging to the school district on the site proposed and purchased for the erection of a new south central elementary school. M. M. Memler of the building and grounds committee confirmed the report of conditions and recommended that the necessary repairs be made, the board concurring in the recommendations.

Printers' Union Is Held in Contempt of Court! Plans Appeal

ITU Not Penalized But Is Ordered to Show Obedience to Edict

Indianapolis, Oct. 14—(AP)—Federal Judge Luther M. Swygert today ruled that the International Typographical Union is in contempt of court because it has insisted on a closed shop in its contracts with newspapers.

The judge, who issued an injunction against the printers union last March 27, did not penalize the union, but ordered it to prove within ten days that it is abiding by his injunction, based on the Taft-Hartley Labor Relations Act.

Four officers of the union also were cited. They are Woodruff Randolph, president; Larry Taylor and Elmer Brown, vice-presidents, and Don Hurd, secretary-treasurer.

Counsel for the National Labor Relations Board asked the contempt citations, charging that the union had continued to insist on a closed shop; had discriminated against non-union men in hiring, and had supported strikes against newspapers in violation of the injunction.

Colin Kelly Rests in Native Florida

Madison, Fla., Oct. 14—(AP)—Capt. Colin Kelly, hailed seven years ago as the first hero of the war in the Pacific, lies buried today amid the scenes of his boyhood at this small north Florida town.

Full military honors marked the burial yesterday of the young hero who was killed when his plane crashed soon after he had bombed the Japanese battleship Haruna. At Kelly's command, the crew members parachuted to safety.

Kelly's death won him personal praise from President Roosevelt, and he was posthumously awarded the Distinguished Service Cross and the Distinguished Flying Cross.

Among the hundreds of mourners at the graveside service were Kelly's parents, his young widow who has since remarried, and his eight-year-old son, Colin III.

The flag which draped the coffin was presented the son by Capt. William E. Frantz of the 14th Air Force.

"It's a small token of appreciation from a very grateful nation for the supreme sacrifice of your father," Frantz said to young Colin.

Colin, nicknamed "Corky" by his family, was recommended for a West Point appointment in 1936 by President Roosevelt.

Kelly was a West Point graduate. And young Corky has no doubts about following in his footsteps.

"I know what I want to be," he said yesterday. "I want to be a flier."

Hallowe'en Parade Saturday, Oct. 30

The Dixon Lions club announces that the annual Hallowe'en parade will be held in Dixon Saturday evening, October 30th, by reason of Hallowe'en falling on Sunday this year.

Following the parade, the Lions will entertain Dixon's grade school students in the high school auditorium and Dixon high school in the gymnasium.

The Lions are again offering prizes for outstanding parade entries, and announce that entries in the parade are not limited to students, but that any person, group or organization may enter.

UN Sole Channel for Negotiations, Halleck Promises

Mt. Vernon, Ill., Oct. 14—(AP)—Rep. Halleck (R-Ill.), house majority leader, last night scored any separate negotiations other than through the United Nations toward settlement of international problems.

Although he did not mention President Truman's recently disclosed intention to send Chief Justice Vinson to Moscow, the implication was clear to his audience.

"Under the next Republican administration there will be no attempts to destroy the United Nations, such as we have witnessed within the past few days," Halleck told a Republican rally.

"We will deal above the table with our friends in the international field, as well as with those whose friendship is, to say the least, doubtful."

"Your Republican administration will never torpedo the United Nations by attempting surreptitiously to enter into unilateral negotiations with another power over issues which have already been placed before the United Nations for settlement."

Secretary of State Marshall persuaded the president to drop the plan.

Halleck said the type of campaign being waged by the Democratic administration "is the last resort of people who know their cause is hopeless. They have been traveling through the land throwing stones with both hands."

"Some people thought I was going to be on the ticket with Dewey," he told his audience estimated at 1,000 persons. "I thought so myself, but Earl Warren is the best man for the job."

Claim Two Commie Rings Operated in Washington in '30's

Chambers Related Hiss Was Member of One Unit Then

Washington, Oct. 14—(AP)—The House un-American activities committee today released heretofore secret testimony claiming that two Communist underground rings were operating simultaneously in the state department in the 1930s.

The testimony was given Aug. 27, to Reps. Mundt (R-S.D.) and Nixon (R-Calif.), committee members, at a closed session here by Whitaker Chambers, self-styled former Communist and now an editor of Time magazine.

The congressman said Chambers told him he had discussed with Alger Hiss, former state department official, several persons who might be brought into the Red "cell" to which he said Hiss belonged.

Mention a Noel Field

One person mentioned, Chambers said, was Noel Field, then in the department's western European division. Field was not further identified in the testimony.

"He (Hiss) made a number of attempts to draw Field in," Chambers said, "only to discover at the showdown that Field was connected with another apparatus."

The testimony appeared in a 1,300-page volume made public by the committee. It covered the private questioning of several witnesses here and in New York City.

Chambers, one of the committee's main witnesses in its investigation of Soviet spying before and during the war, named Hiss as one of an "apparatus" of government officials with whom the Communist party worked during the 1930s. Chambers said he acted as a party liaison man with the government group to which Hiss belonged.

Hiss publicly denied Chambers' testimony, and at first declared he had never known Chambers. He later said he knew Chambers briefly as a free-lance writer who called himself George Crosley.

East Peoria's Water Shortage Is Critical

Peoria, Ill., Oct. 14 (AP)—A shortage of water reached a critical stage in East Peoria today.

Residents of some outlying areas had to haul their own water. Spokesmen for several large industrial plants said they soon may have to close.

The shortage developed when the water level in five wells tapped by the waterworks dropped so low that pumps could be operated only a few hours at a time. The low level was the result of a lack of rain in recent weeks.

The East Peoria council will meet tonight to consider emergency action.

Explosion Throws Acid in Man's Face

Wilson Woodrow, 36, residing east of Dixon on the River road and employed at the LeRoy Warner garage east of Dixon, was the victim of a most unusual accident Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock. He was repairing the ignition system of an automobile at the garage when the battery exploded, throwing the acid in his face.

He was temporarily blinded in both eyes and was rushed to the KSB hospital, where for a time it was feared that the sight of both eyes had been destroyed. Dr. William E. Wright, a specialist from Sterling, was called and today it was reported that it was believed that his eyesight would not be impaired by the unusual accident and he has been returned to his home from the hospital.

Dirkson Has Scheme To Simplify U. S. Govt.

Philadelphia, Oct. 14 (AP)—Rep. Everett M. Dirksen (R-Ill.) believes the United States government is too big and that he has the solution.

"The government is gargantuan in sheer dimensions and equally gargantuan in its bewildering variety of functions and ramifications," he told the Chamber of Commerce executives at their final session yesterday.

Dirksen said he would permit the states to handle some of the problems now assumed by Washington, eliminate duplication in the functions of agencies and consolidate other government bodies.

He pointed out there is one federal civilian employee for every 72 persons in the country as compared to one for every 610 during Lincoln's administration and one for every 30,000 in the time of George Washington.

Dixon High Males Draw Attention on Way Home from Their Studies

High school males who left the school yesterday afternoon to go to their homes attracted no small amount of attention. Checks were smeared with lipstick, trousers were rolled above the knees and many carried canned foods. It was the annual Freshman Day at the Dixon high school where a well arranged program was carried out after classes were dismissed yesterday afternoon.

A game of touch football and other amusement was provided at a program held at the athletic field after school closed.

Associated Press Editors Brief Reports From Around the World

(By the Associated Press)

Britain and China demanded in the UN security council today that Israel report quickly on its investigation of the assassination of Count Folke Bernadotte, Palestine mediator. Jews killed him Sept. 17.

The council tomorrow will tackle anew the Berlin blockade crisis, on which the three western powers and Russia are holding firm in "no compromise" stands. A Soviet veto can block any effective action, such as a demand the U. S. and Britain were reported drafting for a lifting of the Russian blockade.

John J. McDonald, U. S. consul in Jerusalem and head of a three-nation consular true commission, reported to the security council that Bernard Joseph, Israeli military governor, is leading a "deliberate Jewish campaign to discredit the true commission" and Ralph Bunche, the American negotiator, Bunche told the council Israel never has reported on its inquiry into the murder. He said Jewish authorities took insufficient means to protect Bernadotte, cut down by a splinter group of the Jewish Stern gang.

Calls Deeds "Expansionists"

Foreign Secretary Bevin of Britain said in a speech the Russians are expansionists "as imperialists as the czar ever was."

"We must resist any attempt on their part to destroy our liberties," he said.

Rear Adm. Roscoe H. Hillenkoetter, director of the U. S. central intelligence agency, reached Madrid. He was one of a number of prominent Americans to visit Spain in recent weeks, showing fresh interest in Generalissimo Franco's country.

Russian delegates at Paris were reported showing keen interest in what the western powers will do next in the Berlin crisis.

Mediation efforts have broken down. The Kremlin rejected overtures of the six neutral powers on the security council. Russia asked that the west drop its charge and that negotiations revert to the Aug. 30 four-power agreement at Moscow, on which Russia subsequently shifted ground by imposing new demands, including control of the Berlin air lift.

The council meets tomorrow on the issue. A Russian veto could and probably will block any positive action.

Meantime, the Palestine question came up for airing because of persistent Jewish and Arab breaches in the UN truce.

The Communists kept blockaded Berlin in a turmoil. One of their spokesmen predicted the city's elected central government will fall to pieces soon.

Decatur Student Is Discovered in Coma

Chicago, Oct. 14—(AP)—A 17-year-old Decatur high school girl, touring Chicago with her classmates, was taken to Columbus hospital today when companions were unable to rouse her from a coma.

The condition of the girl, Mary Ann Hadley, was described as critical by Mrs. C. E. Pearson, wife of a high school faculty member in charge of the tour.

Mrs. Pearson said the LaSalle hotel physician diagnosed the girl's condition as a diabetic coma. Columbus hospital officials declined to discuss her condition pending arrival from Decatur of Mary Ann's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. V. Hadley.

Forty-six Decatur high school seniors came to Chicago in a chartered bus yesterday for a two-day sight-seeing tour of Chicago. They are to leave for home tonight.

Yesterday morning they visited the Maxwell street outdoor bazaar, toured the Sears Roebuck & Co. mail order house and lunched there. In the afternoon they toured the Merchandise Mart.

Mrs. Pearson said Mary Ann retired about midnight. This morning when the students arose to continue their outing, they could not awaken Mary Ann. The hotel physician was summoned and he ordered her removed to the hospital.

A Thought for Today
So I was great, and increased more than all that were before me in Jerusalem; also my wisdom remained with me.—Ecclesiastes
2:9.

Great truths are portions of the soul of man;
Great souls are the portions of eternity.

Good Citizen
The work of a utility company doesn't begin and end with the production and distribution of electric power to all who want it.
The typical utility is one of the most potent and aggressive factors in carry on worth-while activities.

A recently completed survey shows that 94 per cent of all the operating power companies of the country maintain a direct and intimate relationship with community organizations, including chambers of commerce, civic clubs,
the churches and schools, social and welfare groups, and so on.
And the same survey finds that 66 per cent of the companies work through other agencies in the community in helping to bring in new industry and to strengthen already established concerns.

The utility, in short, is simply a good citizen. It knows that its own welfare and progress depends upon the welfare and progress of the community and the region in which it does business. It prospers when labor, agriculture and other industry prospers. And it suffers financially when they suffer.

The utility is a mainstay of the community in other ways. It is among the biggest and most dependable taxpayers. Every tax-levying body—the town, the country, the school district, the state, and the national government—gets its share. This is in contrast to the socialized systems, which pay little or nothing in taxes, which are dominated by political considerations, and which obligate state and local control of a vital industry.

Free enterprise is a builder, and the utilities are fine examples of it.

A Competitive Field
A factual study of the economic position of the coal industry has this to say: "The high rate of output of bituminous coal which has prevailed during and since the war should not be allowed to obscure the very serious tendencies of rising costs. Rapidly rising wages are not the only consideration. High wages could be paid without lasting serious effects on labor costs, prices, markets and competitive position of the industry, if the man-hours required per ton were reduced rapidly enough.
But this has not been the case."
The study goes on to point out that costs must be reduced through better equipment and methods, with the emphasis on mechanization, and that this in

As Pegler Sees It
By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—After Felix Frankfurter and his clique and clique
of happy hot dogs had lobbied through his nomination for the supreme court where he could give direct force to his extraordinary deference to public opinion in Russia under Trotsky the butcher,
he was "invited" down to Washington to tell the senate judiciary committee about himself.

"I, of course, do not wish to testify in support of my own nomination," said the modest little fellow who was to push his man, Stimson, into the War department and his man, Alger Hiss, into the State department, which sent him to Yalta to sit with Roosevelt and Stalin when they turned out the light on Godly civilization.

Frankfurter thought it would be improper of a nominee to express personal views on controversial issues, having said which,
he beautifully showered himself with new-found laurel. His own great virtue was a non-controversial topic, of course. He was an effective, if not too subtle, name-
under President (Theodore) Roosevelt and happened to enjoy as thousands of others did his very kind and encouraging friendship.
... I was devoted to him. He inspired a sense of civic service within me as he did within so many other young men."

By way of expression of his great trust in the honor and character of Frankfurter, T. R. had written him that his report to President Wilson on the Bisbee deportation was "as thoroughly misleading a document as could be written on the subject."

Frankfurter had told Wilson that his report was "a candid and just statement," but not once did it even mention the Industrial Workers of the World, a band of anarchists who created such terror in Bisbee that the deportation was ordered by the sheriff to prevent violent insurrection.

Frankfurter taught administrative law, a special course, at Harvard law school from 1914 to 1939.
He was succeeded by James M.
Landis, another of the happy hot dogs, who promoted "unity" with Russian public opinion by documenting that Harry Bridges was not a Communist. Landis served from 1939 to 1946. During his term as member and chairman of the Socialist-Exchange commission in Washington, 1934-37, Carol King, a sh-lawyer, who has served Bridges and many others of his type and worse, as counsel, was appointed by the commission to serve as a lawyer and investigator.

She has a record as the defender of accused Communists in the files of the Dies and Thomas committees as long as your arm. The associate of today not infrequently finds himself—or herself—pleading a case before an old friend tomorrow in the exciting life of New Deal lawyers in Washington.

Milton Katz is the present occupant of the Byrne chair at Harvard law which was vacated by Frankfurter and Landis. He was originally an anthropologist but was graduated from Harvard law in 1931. He is now on leave from Harvard law to serve as general counsel of the European Recovery Administration. Landis and Katz were pupils and proteges of Frankfurter. Katz was picked to guarantee that neither unfairness, favoritism nor prejudice should sully
the administration. The Frankfurter tradition would tend to forfeit a man against those weaknesses. Good thing, too. Reassuring.

Kenneth C. Royall, now secretary of the Army, was a Harvard law graduate of 1917. Thus the great tradition is carried on even though the War department, as such, has been abolished. First there was Stimson, who was 73 years old in 1940 when Felix wan-gled him in, three years above the age at which the Roosevelt clique would have superseded a supreme court justice on grounds of senile dilatation. He was 78 when he got out. At that age if a supreme court justice didn't resign to make room for the fine integrity of a Frankfurter, a Murphy or an Alabama "barn-burner," they were

and impersonally at Don Jose.
"You have sacrificed months of good behavior. You had a bright future in the Dragons. I advise you to avoid this gypsy," the colonel said.

Don Jose maintained a stiff-necked, bitter silence, staring at the wall behind the colonel.

"It is true she is an interesting type," the colonel went on. "But for a young man who takes his future seriously, a girl like that spells ruin. For an older man, who has nothing to lose and time for a little foolish indulgence, it is an other matter—perhaps." The colonel took a deep pull on the black cigar and turned back to the business at hand. "Remember what I have told you," he said curtly.
"You will take extra guard duty
and be confined to barracks for 30 days."

DON JOSE marched in the bot-test sun and the wettest rain for 30 days with a pack on his back, carrying full equipment and a rifle, and it seemed to him that every soldier on the post and every cigarette girl in the factory pelted him ten times daily with broad jokes about Carmen's escape.

Marching in the hot sun, as the pack grew heavier on his back, resentment against her choked up his throat as he tried to imagine what she could be doing in freedom. This resentment was a strange new emotion to him for it bordered on hatred, and his reason told him that if he was to hate he could only hate himself because it had been of his own will that Carmen had escaped. This eased nothing for him.

He imagined her in Andres' arms. He remembered the bold invitation in her eyes as she had sauntered out of the cigarette factory and onto the square. She must attract many men. Or, perhaps, in a foolish, suffocating wave of delight that lifted his heart to a sudden pounding beat, she would be waiting for him, remembering the promise she made to him.

(To Be Continued)

turn is dependent on adequate earnings to finance improvements.
This is an economist's way of saying that high wages in the coal industry must eventually be offset by greater man-hour production in order to prevent coal from pricing itself out of the competitive market. And production can be increased by two methods
only. One is by the use of more and better machinery—by more efficient tools. The other is greater effort on the part of the miners themselves.

It is certainly in the interest of the miners, as it is in the interest of the public, that coal production be made more efficient.
They receive higher wages than any other comparable group and save in time of strikes steady employment is assured. This condition can be continued only if coal can keep its markets—both now, and on some future day when other fuels may be abundant and competition will get tougher. A healthy coal industry is a must for this country.

as they walked. In a low, intimate voice she said, "Look, Navarro.
I could give you a little shove and you would fall down and I could get away. Nobody could catch me.
I would be gone before these stupid Castilians even knew what happened."

Don Jose looked at her, shocked,
as they reached the narrowest portion of the alley. She went on.
"Nobody would know. You could tell them I escaped, then I would be very grateful to you. I think you can tell that I am very nice
when I am grateful."

He looked at her again, his eyes narrowed. This time he did not glance away so quickly. She slanted her eyes at him provocatively.
"Remember? Eight o'clock tonight at Lillas Pastia?"

His face set as though he had already thought of what tonight might have meant to him. She moved closer. "How can we be together if I'm in a dirty prison cell?" Don Jose stumbled a little,
as the insinuating words went on.
"It would be so easy. I run very fast. You should see me run."

She stopped abruptly then and Don Jose stopped, too. She looked up into his face, laughed suddenly, pushed him violently and ran like the wind. Don Jose fell elaborately, blocking the way of the other soldiers with his sword and his legs.

Carmen had gone flying off down
the alley. She was almost out of sight by the time the soldiers were untangled. They started to run after her, but Don Jose called them back. "I think I have hurt
my ankle. Help me up."

They hesitated, then stopped, for this was an order. Carmen was gone as they helped Don Jose to his feet. They looked at each other knowingly because he avoided their eyes.

THE colonel bit into a cigar and lighted it. He stared calmly

THE STORY: Don Jose, young officer in a fashionable Spanish regiment, has just come to Navarre
from the countryside of Navarre.
On his first day in the city, a gorgeous gypsy girl, Carmen, with him, then disappears. Some days later he is on duty in the square with his friend, Andres, when girls from the nearby cigarette factory swarm out at closing time.
Among them is the gypsy. Andres greets her warmly as Carmen, but her glances are all for Jose. Even so she makes a date with Andres.
Shortly after she leaves them, Jose hears a commotion down the street. Carmen has gotten into a brawl with another woman and knives her. Don Jose is ordered to take Carmen prisoner. She is led away, struggling, by two soldiers.
She appeals loudly to Jose, who tries not to pay any attention.
Suddenly she shrieks that one of the soldiers has pinched her.

VI
THE soldier's face reddened, puffed with anger. "She lies!
I didn't touch her!"
"Fall back," Don Jose said gruffly to the soldier. "Let her walk with the other."

The first soldier obeyed resentfully and the march continued.
Carmen looked at the back of Don Jose's head with a lowering, sullen glare. She screamed again, frightening the soldier percepti-
bly and making Don Jose wheel.
"Now this one!" she said with an outraged howl. She pushed the amazed soldier violently and at the same time she appealed to heaven and to Don Jose. "Is there no protection from the advances of these filthy conscripts?"

Don Jose gave the soldier a shove that sent him back against the side of a house. He took Carmen into his own custody sullenly and led her along the street with the two men following, one muttering, the other limping. Carmen looked up at Don Jose, as pleased as a child with the success of her ruse. She adjusted her dress, smoothed the hair out of her eyes,
smoothed it down and looked at him sideways, measuring his mood

THANK—WE TOLD THE HATLO TO CHASE TO TOMMY COON, DARNIE, WOO.

The next secretary of war was Frankfurter's old Harvard law friend, Robert Patterson, a Republican who got a case of galloping ismatics during the war and in 1944 announced that he was going to support Roosevelt—that is, vote Democratic. Not that he had to tell anyone. After he said that he only knew that the Lincoln brigade in Spain were brave fighters against fascism and didn't know they were Communists, he didn't have to tell. It was alarming to some citizens to learn that a fellow who was in reality the effective or acting head of the War department in the greatest war in history, and with the Army Intelligence, the FBI and many other sources of information, didn't know that this Lincoln brigade was a Communist army. It seemed on the strange side. However, they raise them that way at Harvard law. And that way is smart.
Clever. They don't know a Communist when they see one, which has been pretty nice for the Communists.

Now the War department is gone, but the Department of the Army is the outfit that will have charge of the indoctrination of the young men who will be called up for the Roosevelt memorial war.
As to whether Mr. Royall believes in the doctrine that was taught the troops under Stimson and Patterson we have still to learn. That doctrine was that anyone who hated Communists was a fascist and anyone who exposed and fought Roosevelt's criminal unioneers was an enemy of labor.

Mr. Royall made colonel in the second war, which is pretty high but still a grade under the rank of that dashing soldier from Harvard law, another Frankfurter happy hot dog, Brig-Gen. Telford Taylor, the great avenging sword of the civilized nations in the Nuer-enberg trials. He is now just 40 years old. A prodigy! The dashing general did his dashing in the corridors of the law departments.
Brig-Gen. Telford Taylor is a military genius from Harvard law
and a warrior in the great tradition of Felix Frankfurter. He is an old Washington hand, young though he be. Served in the old AAA under Jerome Frank. Married a niece of Jim Landis, Federal Communications commission. All that sort of thing. Nothing wrong with Telford Taylor, of Harvard law.

name of a dark mass of impure diamond whose technical name is carbonate.

Druggists Health!
NO MATTER how long you have been suffering from stomach, kidney and rheumatic distress, and what drugs you have tried before, you can now hope for relief if you take GEO-MINERAL. With your eyes SEE the results seven days after you start taking it.

DRUGGISTS. Chemists cannot make GEO-MINERAL. It comes from the earth—Nature's laboratory. Contains NO dope, NO alcohol, NO OIL. ONLY Nature's minerals—the oldest, most reliable remedy for rheumatism, arthritis, kidney and stomach ailments.

Wonder Minerals
FOR THOUSANDS of years sufferers, on advice of doctors, go to mineral springs to get cure, or relief. The late President Roosevelt used to go to Warm Springs in Georgia. He was helped, he would not have gone there regularly twice a year.

WE HAVE all heard of the miraculous springs of Lourdes, France, and famous Thourion in ancient Greece, where, according to legend, Hercules, the son of eternal strength and youth, drank its waters and bathed to be forever young.

IF YOU ARE a sufferer, and can not go to the mineral springs, try GEO-MINERAL which contains a blend of the same minerals that can be found at the world's best springs. The minerals in it may work miracles.

Amazing Results
WATCH your elimination from your bowels two or three days after you start using GEO-MINERAL. The waste, black as coal, will break away and you will SEE it! Also examine your urine. You may see impurities—poisonous waste—coming out of your kidneys, and feel the relief. Be sure to watch for all this to realize the priceless value of GEO-MINERAL.

GEO-MINERAL is not a physic, and does not interfere with the foods in the intestines. It gets down to the root, cleaning and purifying, throwing away poisons—gas, toxins and bloating. Not like physics, oils and cathartics, do, but in a Natural, harmless, safe way.

100% Guaranteed!
WE URGE you to try GEO-MINERAL. Go to your drug store NOW and get one bottle. Use it seven days. If you are not 100 per cent satisfied, we will refund your money in full.

TRY IT! It may be the remedy you NEED! ... and making the best investment for your health. It may do wonders for you—make you feel, eat, sleep, work and enjoy life better.

Review Work of Local TB Group

With plans under way for its 1948-49 program to be financed by the coming Christmas seal sale, your local Tuberculosis association takes pride in reviewing the work accomplished in Lee county since beginning of the fiscal year April 1, to date. All those who contributed so generously last year should take great satisfaction in having shared in this work.

You made it possible for the association to offer the tuberculin skin test to freshmen seniors and school personnel in the high schools of the county. Where local conditions made it advisable, this service was extended to include special groups as well. The testing has been completed in West Brooklyn, Compton and Paw Paw schools.

On Monday, Oct. 18, the tests will be offered to students of the Dixon high school and we urge parents to give whole-hearted approval in order that we might have a 100 per cent turnout.

This work among our young people must not stop here, their future welfare means too much. Tuberculosis strikes hardest at the age group from 15 to 25. Only annual x-rays and regular observation can properly safeguard them. If even one case of active tuberculosis can thus be prevented the time and expense involved in the observation of many times that number is a profitable investment.

A total of 337 admission chest x-rays have been taken at the Katherine Shaw Behr hospital during this time, a number of positive cases of tuberculosis have been found among those x-rayed.

In addition to the admission x-rays, 60 hospital employees have also been x-rayed in the program. Since the beginning of the year's program the association has paid time and expense involved in the for 200 x-rays of out patients referred by our Lee county physicians.

Only your purchase of Christmas seals make these services available.

Punishment Fits the Crime

Convicted of speeding on his motorcycle in St. Louis, Mo., Albert Werner Jr., 18, was sentenced to work five Sundays in the fracture ward of the St. Louis County Hospital. Werner gives an alcohol rub to Roy Jones, a cyclist who broke his leg in a head-on crash.

Truman Cuts War Path in North and Swings at Dewey

Says GOP Candidate is Short on Foresight in St. Paul Talk

Aboard Truman Campaign Train Oct. 14—(AP)—President Truman cut a political war path through Minnesota and Wisconsin again today, terming his opponent a man lacking "foresight" and a "risk at a time of world crisis."

He took off the gloves last night at St. Paul with a description of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey as a maker of "mealy mouthed political catch phrases" like "unity" and "efficiency."

And, in a speech sprinkled with New Deal phrases, he declared that the Republicans had changed Senator Joseph H. Ball from a fighter on the people's side to one of the "champions of reaction."

He called for the election of Minneapolis Mayor Hubert Humphrey to Ball's senate seat as a "fighting liberal" and diagnosed Ball's alleged change as a "dose of Potomac fever."

Talks in Milwaukee

Mr. Truman will climax a heavy day of speechmaking today with a major address at 8:40 p. m. in the ball park at Milwaukee.

His schedule started with a rear platform talk at Mankato at 8 a. m., and similar off the cuff addresses at Rochester, 10:15 a. m., and Winona, 11:35 a. m., before moving into Sparta, Wis., for a speech at 12:55 p. m.

At Madison, the Wisconsin capital, the president leaves his train for a drive to University of Wisconsin stook pavilion and another speech. William T. Evjue, editor of the Madison Capital Times, will introduce him. Then, there will be a platform address at Waushara before the president's campaign train pulls into Milwaukee at 7:05 p. m., for a four hour program.

In his St. Paul rally, one of the sharpest talks of his campaign, the president invited all liberals to fight with him for "the right kind of unity" under Democrats.

While he didn't call Governor Dewey's name, he linked him with "recent converts" to a bi-partisan foreign policy he said were preaching "me too, but I can do it better."

An audience which overflowed the 3,600-seat hall whooped it up in approval as he declared the GOP liked the government so well they wanted to "buy it."

Touche Foreign Policy

He pulled foreign policy directly into the campaign, asserting Gov. Dewey supplied no unity on that front as late as 1944. Mr. Truman said Republican leaders were "mainly isolationist" in 1940 with "half the world in flames."

"I call on all liberals and progressives to stand up and be counted for democracy in the great battle," the president said. The crowd howled its approval.

"I call on the old Farmer-Labor party, the old Wisconsin Progressives, the old non-partisan leagues, and the New Dealers to stand up and be counted," he said.

The president said Governor Dewey in 1940 said production of 50,000 airplanes a year was "fantastic" and the nation produced 100,000.

"He had so little foresight about post-war problems," Mr. Truman continued, "that he felt we could completely demobilize our military strength the minute that hostilities ceased."

"Here again, as in so many other cases," Mr. Truman continued, "the American people should consider the risk of entrusting the destiny to recent converts who now come along and say 'me too, but I can do it better.'"

He said Senator Ball showed fanatic zeal in helping to push the shameful Taft-Hartley law through congress.

"Good Government" Theme of Address in Truman Holdings

Gov. Dewey Carries His Drive Into Missouri Pendergast Centers

Enroute with Dewey to Kansas City, Oct. 14—(AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey picked a "good government" theme today in an attempt to cut Missouri's 15 "home base" electoral votes from under President Truman.

Turning temporarily away from the pounding he has been giving the Truman administration on the foreign front, the GOP presidential nominee planned to talk on home problems in Kansas City tonight.

Announcing the topic of the talk, Paul Lockwood, the New York governors secretary, said Dewey would "promise to bring to Washington a government that believes wholeheartedly in the American system of freedom, that knows where it is going; that practices teamwork; that has integrity; that is competent; and that has vision, faith and courage."

This large order seemed unlikely to prevent Dewey from alluding indirectly to Truman's connection with the Kansas City Pendergast organization.

In an area embracing the district where Truman purged a Democratic congressional candidate in 1946 only to have his choice lose to a Republican, the New York governor was expected to bear down on ballot box integrity.

Investigation Barred

Senator Kem (R-Mo.) tried unsuccessfully for months to win a congressional investigation of Attorney General Clark's handling of the Kansas City vote frauds.

The GOP nominee's interest in Missouri primarily was in attempting to wrest the president's home state from him.

He spent the day in Oklahoma yesterday, however, largely on a mission that even some of his friends thought was futile—an attempt to elect Rep. Ross Ritzley, Republican, as the next senator from Oklahoma.

The 51 to 45 margin the Republicans now hold in the senate looks so shaky in this year's balloting that Dewey made 12 speeches—something of a record for him—in Oklahoma.

May Carry Oklahoma

The consensus of local politicians was that while Dewey has some chance to carry Oklahoma, his margin would have to be larger than expected to pull Ritzley to victory with him over the latter's opponent, former Democratic Gov. Robert S. Kerr.

The Republican rub in this case is that Sen. Ed Moore, Republican, is retiring and a Democratic victory would help cut down the slim GOP senate margin.

In his trek across Oklahoma, Dewey talked mostly of world peace—with clear implication that the chances of avoiding war would be much better if the Republicans gain control of the White House in November.

In Oklahoma City, he told one of the largest crowds of listeners in his campaign—estimated at 20,000 by police captain Tom Webb—that if he is elected he will free the government of the "shackles of confusion and defeatism and despair."

Dewey's Kansas City speech, in the Municipal auditorium, will be broadcast from 5.30 to 9 p. m. Central Standard Time. Tomorrow he heads for Minnesota and a major speech in St. Paul tomorrow night.

At Oklahoma City Dewey declared that the U. S. "in the interest of our national security" must increase its potential oil capacity.

"Because of our present needs," he said, "we have no reserve productive capacity today to help cushion the shock of any emergency."

"Our peacetime demands are actually so great that the United States has become a net importer of petroleum. Obviously, the time has come when to be careless with our oil resources is to gamble with our country's security at home and abroad, oil is of vital importance to everyone of us."

Additional Statements

"In the interest of our national security we must increase our potential oil producing capacity. We must also go on with research in the development of better methods of refining and secondary recovery, so that we can realize the full potentials of our oil supplies."

The nominee made these additional statements.

That America, if she is to remain free, must be strong.

That his administration, if elected in November, will back its diplomatic representatives by letting them "know that America is not divided."

That the "abundance of America" must be maintained "if we are going to broaden our horizons of opportunity x x x."

That the nation must "pay more careful attention to maintaining and increasing our natural resources."

That "we must maintain the fertility of the land x x x and fight with everything we have against erosion, plant disease, and destructive pests."

A variety of chickens that lays blue eggs has been developed by poultry breeders.

Will Herbert Phillips passed away this morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Della Bollman in Amboy at 2 o'clock, following a period of failing health which has extended over the past several months.

He was born in Warren, Ill., Oct. 1, 1871, the son of Augustus and Mary Phillips and came to Dixon with his parents as a small boy, where he resided until about six years ago when he went to the vicinity of Amboy and Lee Center where he has since resided. He was united in marriage to Miss Levena Whitebread in Dixon, Dec. 15, 1896, who survives him, together with one daughter, Mrs. Della Bollman of Amboy; seven grandchildren; one great grandchild; a sister, Mrs. Zula Morris of Anaheim, Cal., and several nieces and nephews. His parents and one sister preceded him in death.

Funeral services will be held at the Muhl funeral home at Amboy Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock, the Rev. George McCauley, pastor of the West End Congregational church of Dixon officiating, and interment will be in DeWolf cemetery.

During his residence in Dixon he was employed for several years in the job department of the B. F. Shaw Printing Co.

THOMAS T. LARKIN

Thomas T. Larkin, 62, district superintendent of the Illinois Northern Utilities company's Sterling office, died at his home there at 1:20 a. m. today very suddenly.

Death was thought to have been caused by a heart attack. The coroner stated no inquest would be held.

An employee of the INU for more than 36 years, he had been in charge of the Sterling office since Oct. 16, 1934. He had appeared in excellent health last night.

He was prominent in civic affairs in Sterling, holding membership in the Chamber of Commerce there, the Rotary club and the Masonic order.

He is survived by his widow, a foster daughter, Mrs. Carl Mueller, Green Bay, Wis., formerly a member of The Telegraph news staff; a son, Edgar, Joliet, and a daughter, Mrs. Ramona Shorey, Glen Ellyn.

Born Dec. 20, 1886, in Arlington, he joined the INU Jan. 2, 1912, working at Mendota. He was transferred to Polo as a line foreman Oct. 1, 1912, and moved from there to Aledo as district superintendent Feb. 16, 1918. He came to Sterling in 1934 from Aledo.

Funeral services had not been definitely arranged this morning, but probably will be held Saturday at Aledo. Funeral arrangements were being made at the Trouth funeral home, Sterling.

Printers' Union Is

4. To notify all locals that the union is in contempt of court and that the International cannot support any local that insists on contract terms violating the terms of the injunction—insisting on the "form contract" and discrimination against non-union members.

Today's ruling is expected to have widespread effect throughout the newspaper industry and will clear the way for further negotiation of the year-old strike in Chicago.

To Higher Court

The ruling likely will be tested in higher court and by agreement may go directly to the United States Supreme court.

This ITU case was the subject of a sharp exchange between President Truman and Senator Taft (R-Ohio) last month.

The president had written that the senator had "put the heat" on the NLRB counsel to bring the contempt suit, which the judge refused to dismiss.

This charge was denied by the NLRB counsel and Taft said Truman's statement was "merely an attempt to curry favor with the labor bosses who control the labor publicly to which he is looking for help in the election."

The suit started last Jan. 16 when the NLRB counsel asked for the injunction, charging that the union had violated the Taft-Hartley law in Chicago and various other cities.

After extensive hearings the injunction was issued March 27 and it was that injunction which the NLRB charged on August 23 that the union had violated.

Don Hurd, secretary-treasurer of the ITU, said union officials would have no comment on Judge Swygert's decision until it had been studied by the union's attorneys.

CLAIM PARTIAL VICTORY

Washington, Oct. 14—(AP)—The AFL International Typographical Union today claimed a partial victory in the federal court decision holding the union in contempt for continued Taft-Hartley law violations. The union said it will appeal.

Henry Kaiser, an ITU attorney, said the court declined to grant a government request that the ITU be ordered to cease making strike benefit payments and giving other support in the 11-month walkout of printers against Chicago daily newspapers.

NLRB general counsel Robert N. Denham had made such a request in pleadings to Judge Luther M. Swygert in Indianapolis. Kaiser said however that Judge Swygert's decision points out that the Chicago ITU local offered Chicago publishers contract terms similar to those granted the union's local in New York City by publishers there.

SOCIETY

Practical Club Hears "Tea" Story

Mrs. A. E. Marth was hostess to 17 members and one guest of the practical club for 1:30 dessert luncheon Tuesday. Mrs. C. H. Crews of Tampa, Fla., cousin of Mrs. W. E. Whitson, was the club's guest.

Mrs. Rowena Powell, president, presided over the business meeting. Mrs. Homer Senniff had prepared a paper on "A story about Tea" but as she was unable to attend the meeting Mrs. George Stephen read the paper. A few of the interesting facts brought out by the paper will be given below.

To coffee loving Americans, tea is a sissy drink yet the world drinks more tea than any other beverage except water. China may consume more tea than any other nation, about half of the world's annual crop, two billion pounds. But man to man an Englishman drinks five times as much as the Chinese. The Japanese prepare their tea by pulverizing the dried tea leaves and placing a pinch of the powder in a cup of boiling water, this is then whipped with a bamboo switch. The Chinese who are the original tea drinkers pour the boiling water on the tea leaves then cover the cup with a saucer like lid and let it seep. To drink the lid is flipped back just enough to strain the leaves while the liquid is sipped noiselessly. The Russians on the other hand like to sop it from a saucer or from a tall glass in a metal holder. As for tea bags the Americans are the only people in the world who use them.

Mrs. John Byers read items of interest. The next practical club meeting on October 26 will be a scramble luncheon at the home of Mrs. Harry Schuler. Mrs. Clark Rickard will be the co-hostess.

Home Again

PVT. LEONARD E. REED

The remains of Pvt. Leonard E. Reed, who was killed in action on Luzon in the Philippines, was returned to Dixon this morning.

Leonard was born August 5, 1920, in Pine Creek township, Ogle county, and died at the age of 24 years, 7 months and 13 days. He had spent most of his lifetime in and around Grand Detour, and his home was in Grand Detour at the time of his entering the service on June 13, 1944.

He received his basic training in Camp Walters, Texas, and from there he was sent to Fort Ord, Calif., where he joined his company and was sent to the Philippines on December 31, 1944. He was serving with Company I, 158th Regimental Combat Team when he was killed in action on March 18, 1945.

Leonard had been in the service but a short time before he was killed in action, and during that time he had been awarded the Marksmanship Medal, and that was one of the reasons he was placed in combat service at such an early date.

Employed in Dixon

Before entering the service he was an employee of the Reynolds Wire Company in Dixon. He had many friends in this community and in Grand Detour. He was known for his winning personality by all those he met.

He is survived by his wife, Nora, and daughter, Beverly Ann, at home in Grand Detour; his parents; one brother, Raymond of Grand Detour; one sister, Evelyn Case of Rockford; his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Garfield Long of Oregon; and his paternal grandmother, Mrs. Mary Rambo of Polo.

He was preceded in death by one child, Edward.

Memorial services will be held at the Chapel Hill funeral home at 2:30, Saturday afternoon, with the Rev. William E. Thompson of the Brethren church officiating with interment in Chapel Hill Memorial park.

Dixon service organizations, the American Legion, the VFW, Amvets, and the National Guard will have charge of the military services at the grave. Friends may call at the funeral home after 5:00 p. m. Friday.

tension division is offering a library course for elementary teachers, the class meeting for its first time last evening.

Instruction in the building trades, which has been suggested through special courses, has been realized Lancaster informed the board. A local committee on apprenticeship training has asked for a room to conduct a class for carpenter apprentices. The classes will begin as soon as an instructor can be secured and it is expected that about 30 will enroll in the course the board was informed. This week, Superintendent Lancaster added, a course in brick laying had been suggested in the special training group, but this was deferred until a location suitable for the instruction could be obtained. Every member of the board present expressed satisfaction with the added courses announced for adult and special training, and favored the extension of the program, if possible.

Several members of the board plan to attend the annual convention of the Illinois Association of School Boards to be held at the Congress Hotel in Chicago, Nov. 14 through 16.

Alcoholic Glad to Swear Off After Taking New Drug

New York — (AP) — Alcoholics can be put on the wagon for months and even years by a drug treatment that makes them sick of the sight, taste, or thought of alcohol, two Seattle physicians report.

The drug is emetine, which nauseates any one who takes it. It is given to the chronic drinker before he becomes sick from it, he is given a dose of the drug. He retches and is miserably sick from the drug not from the drink.

After four to eight such treatments he can't stand the taste or sight of a drink, even when he doesn't get the drug first. He associates the sickness with the drink, even though he knows the drug was what made him sick.

This association of ideas is psychological and is called a conditioned reflex. A Russian Pavlov did a famous experiment with it. In his laboratory a bell was rung before dogs were given or shown their food. The dogs' mouths watered at the sight and smell of the food. After a time the ringing of the bell started their mouths to watering even when no food appeared.

This conditioned reflex treatment is not a cure for alcoholism. But a new report based on treatment of 232 chronic drinkers since 1935 says it can be a valuable aid in helping alcoholics stop their drinking if they sincerely want to.

The results are described in the New England Journal of Medicine by Dr. Paul O'Holloran, assistant chief of staff of the Shadel sanitarium, Seattle, and Dr. Frederick Lemere, staff psychiatrist.

Described in Journal

They checked over the record of the 232 patients who had received the treatment between 1935 and 1945. Nearly 45 per cent still were on the wagon in 1945 they said. On the average those who had started drinking again had stayed dry for more than 11 months.

The study shows that after the treatment 85 per cent of alcoholics will abstain from drinking for at least six months. Seventy per cent will go a year or more. Sixty per cent make it for at least two years. Fifty per cent go four years and more than 30 per cent go seven years or more. And 25 per cent have stayed on the wagon for up to 10½ years the end of the surveyed period.

To be done safely the treatment has to be done by properly trained doctors or nurses.

Mother of Five Is Bad Check Artist

Chicago Oct. 14 — (AP) — A mother of five children who admitted passing some 150 bogus checks totaling $10,000 during last year, yesterday pleaded guilty to four confidence game charges.

She is Mrs. Mary Siefert, 39, of St. Paul, Minn. The woman appeared before Chief Justice James J. McDermott in criminal court.

The court set Oct. 29 to hear an application for probation in her behalf.

Mrs. Siefert's accomplice Frank Duroso, 48, whose last address was a motel near Michigan City, Ind., pleaded guilty to three confidence game charges. Duroso was sentenced to three terms of from three to five years each to run concurrently.

The two admitted to the court they had been passing bogus checks for the last five years. Duroso said he used a small printing press and a check writing machine to prepare the checks.

Mrs. Siefert told the court her children ranging from 14 to 20 years in age, are living with relatives in St. Paul.

Mrs. Siefert was seized by Chicago police Sept. 1 while attempting to pass a bogus check in a woman's apparel shop on the west side.

Detective James Rose told the court Mrs. Siefert and Duroso are wanted in Denver, Colo., Cleveland, O., Detroit, Mich. and New York City for passing fake checks.

Meat Price Drop May Not Come As Farmers Hold Off

Don't Move to Expand Livestock Production Thus Far, Reveal

Washington, Oct. 14 (AP) — Government forecasts of a boost in meat supplies—and lower prices—by late 1949 may be over-optimistic.

Made chiefly by the Agricultural department, these predictions have been based largely on the fact that, at the moment, the relationship between feed prices and livestock prices is very favorable for producing meat animals.

This year's record grain crop has pulled down costs of feed, while livestock prices have remained relatively high.

But reports from the corn belt, where the bulk of the nation's meat supply comes from, indicate that farmers are not jumping in to expand livestock production as much as the department had expected.

Fear Price Drop

These reports say many farmers fear that prices may drop sharply by the time new meat animals can be produced, fattened and marketed.

This view was expressed by Carl C. Malone, Iowa State college economist, before an Agricultural department farm outlook conference here this week. He was supported by several economists from other western corn belt states.

Malone, somewhat to the surprise of department officials, said he does not believe farmers will meet the government's goal of a 60,000,000-head 1949 spring pig crop. Such a goal must be met if there is to be a big jump in pork supplies next year. It compares with this year's spring crop of 51,000,000.

Malone said many farmers in Iowa—the major corn-hog state—refer to put their corn under government price support loans and thereby escape any risk that might be involved in feeding the grain to livestock.

See Cautious Attitude

The department itself reported similar skepticism among corn belt cattle feeders in a report yesterday. It said the volume of beef cattle to be fed in the corn belt this winter may not be greatly different from a year ago because of a "cautious attitude among farmers and financing agencies."

The "uncertainty of future prices" of beef cattle was said to be the main factor back of this cautiousness.

This farmer uneasiness also has been expressed in heavy October marketing of hogs. The recent drop in feed prices had been expected to lead farmers to hold hogs for fattening to heavy weights.

But the reverse has been the case. Hogs are coming to market at considerably lighter weights than a year ago and in larger numbers.

Black Marketeers Lay Down on the Job

This is a black market gang at work in Shanghai. Since only about 30 people can buy restricted quotas of scarce drugs, the "Yellow Ox" gang waits all night for drug stores to open, then buys the whole supply. Many Proposals To Be Decided by Voters at Election

Thirty-five States Have Extra Proposals for Consideration

Washington, Oct. 14 (AP) — Voters in 35 states will decide the fate of scores of proposals Nov. 2 besides picking national and state officials.

Louisiana alone has posed 40 constitutional questions.

Californians will ballot on 15 proposed amendments to its constitution, one referendum and four initiatives. Alabama and Florida each have 11 constitutional matters up for decision, followed by Texas with eight and Maryland with seven.

Consider Veterans Aid
Only 13 states will confine their ballots to elective officials.

An Associated Press survey of the questions and subjects to be submitted to the various electorates show that 12 states will deal with the issue of aid for veterans, eight concern the liquor question and three have controversial amendments touching on labor.

Other topics include revision of tax and old age pension systems, bond issues, pay revisions for

Three Procedures

Although state laws vary, in general the three different procedures for submitting such questions to the people are these:

Constitutional amendment—If adopted, the idea is written into basic law, but enabling legislation may be required later.

Referendum—sometimes a law proposed by the legislature, subject to approval by a majority of the voters; sometimes simply a device for the people to express their views on a subject.

Initiative—a step where the voters themselves, after successfully petitioning for a place on the ballot, either can enact a new law or suggest that the legislature do so.

The states with constitutional, referendum or initiative questions and the number of each in that order include:

Indiana (1, 0), Iowa (0, 1, 0), Michigan (5, 1, 0), Minnesota (4, 0, 0), Missouri (3, 0, 0), and Wisconsin (1, 1, 0).

Politics

Roundup of Developments in National Political Picture by AP

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey headed his Republican caravan today for Kansas City, one-time Democratic stronghold where President Truman made his political bow 26 years ago.

Making his second campaign swing across Truman's home state of Missouri, the GOP presidential candidate switched from his sharp attacks on the president's handling of foreign affairs to a "good government" theme.

Truman meanwhile pushed his vote hunt through Minnesota and Milwaukee. The Democratic standard bearer stressed a plea at St. Paul for the "right kind of unity" to provide peace and prosperity for this country.

Dewey moves into Minnesota tomorrow after a major address to night in Kansas City. The New York governor hammered away at the unity and peace theme in yesterday's heavy round of speeches in Oklahoma.

"The time has come," he told an Oklahoma City rally, "for national leadership which will measure up to our devotion to peace."

Pledging to "mobilize the strength of this immensely productive country" to forestall any attack, Dewey said:

"The plain fact is that strength—economic, military, moral strength—is a stark grim necessity if we are to live and go forward. Free nations must be strong or they will lose their freedoms. Peace-loving nations must be strong—or there can be no peace."

Later at Joplin, Mo., he told an estimated 3,000 trainside listeners "we must have an administration that will work with congress—that wants to work with congress."

Dewey said this country must "establish a foreign policy so clear that everybody—both the free world and the slave world—will know where we stand. They must know that we stand firmly for peace, that we are not going to wobble, wobble, and wiggle."

Truman told his St. Paul audience that today's bi-partisan foreign policy for which "others are now claiming credit so loudly" was not Republican-backed in 1940 with "half the world in flames."

"We achieved this degree of unity," he said, "only after world-shaking events had made it clear that the vast majority of the people of the United States would no longer tolerate isolationism."

In 1944, Truman said, Dewey "had so little foresight about post-war problems that he felt we could completely demobilize our military strength the minute hostilities ended."

"Again and again," Truman said, the GOP candidate charged in the 1944 campaign "that it was the administration's arbitrary desire to keep men in the Army after the war was over."

"Now, as a matter of hindsight," the president continued, "he says, 'me, too' about building up our armed forces."

Recalling that he had challenged the Republican candidates repeatedly to take a stand on campaign issues, Truman said he has managed to find out where they stand on these points:

"They admire the government of the United States so much that they would like to buy it."

"They approve of the American farmer—but they are willing to help him go broke."

"They stand four square for the American home—but not for housing."

"They are strong for labor—but they are stronger for restricting its rights."

Senator Taft, a co-author of the labor law, meanwhile told a St. Petersburg, Fla., rally that a Republican victory would insure freedom of enterprise, sound government and the principles of states rights for southerners.

The Democrats, the Ohio Republican said, would "subject the life of every family to direction from a federal bureau."

The chief States' Rights advocate, Gov. J. Strom Thurmond, told a Louisville rally last night that his wing of the Democratic party may garner enough electoral votes to throw the presidential decision into the house of representatives.

GOVERNOR'S CAMPAIGN "DUCK" COMING HERE

This amphibious U.S. Army "Duck," presented to the "Re-elect Governor Green" Committee by H. H. Harris of Champaign, is now on tour of more than 50 counties of Illinois. It has a complete public address and sound system, two electric power plants and a speaker's platform.

Pickets Are All at Sea

Striking oil workers take to boats to picket tank cars entering the Oleum, Calif., refinery of the Union Oil Company. Circles indicate three boatloads of pickets cruising San Francisco Bay. They pelleted trains with rocks.

the exception of Henry Wallace's speeches the presidential campaign in the United States is getting scant notice in the Soviet press.

Wallace's remarks nearly always receive wide attention and are often published prominently, but there is little editorial comment on them.

Both Dewey and Truman have come in for considerable criticism by Soviet writers. Warren has gotten his share, also, but little attention has been paid to the Democratic vice presidential candidate, Senator Barkley.

The speeches of Senator Taylor, Wallace's running mate, have also been prominently reported from time to time.

Long ago the Soviet commentators took the stand there is little or no difference between the Democratic and Republican parties, as they are led by Truman and Dewey.

Despite the reporting of Wallace's speeches there has been no speculation as to his chances of being elected this year.

Food Costs Will Run State Bureau Into Red

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 14—(AP)—The public safety department says the high cost of feeding penitentiary and Vandalia state farm inmates is going to run it into the red for the two years ending next June 30.

Alvin S. Keys, assistant director, told the state budgetary commission yesterday the department's $24,473,000 appropriation for all purposes during the period was going to fall $1,309,000 short, "largely because of increased costs of commodity items."

Keys said a deficiency request to make up the anticipated money shortage would be presented to the legislature in January. He said the department at the same time would seek a $181,000 supplemental appropriation for its revolving fund, which is used to finance operations of prison industries at Joliet, Pontiac and Menard.

Physician Comes to Conclusion Sailors in Subs Are Right

Chicago, Oct. 14—(AP)—A physician who believes that 30,000 Navy submarine men can't be wrong said today it's all right to blow your nose hard when you have a cold.

It won't cause an ear infection by forcing bacteria or virus-laden material into the ear tube, he told a group of ear-eye-throat specialists.

Dr. W. Wallace Teed of Ann Arbor, Mich., said he came to that conclusion while serving as a Navy medical officer at the New London, Conn., submarine base during the war.

In a paper prepared for the annual meeting of the American Academy of Ophthalmology and Otolaryngology, he said:

More than 30,000 submarine men were trained at the base. Part of the course involved use of the Monaghan "lung," a device for escaping from sunken submarines while submerged in a 100-foot water tank. This pressure change required frequent inflation of the tubes between ear and throat.

He said that "for some time I was horrified" to see men with acute infections going through the test repeatedly. However, only one man out of more than 30,000 trained developed an ear infection.

"The sheer weight of this evidence," he said, "gradually forced on me the conclusion that the older teaching—that otitis media was caused by improper blowing of the nose during an infection—was entirely fallacious and should be discarded."

What does cause an ear infection following a cold, he decided, is direct obstruction of the tube by infection of tissue, creating a relative vacuum in the middle ear, which fills with serum that in turn may become infected.

Sue Crippled Girl To Give Her $32,000 Fund

Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 14—(AP)—Four adult friends of crippled, wavy-haired Charlene Fisk have named her defendant in a court suit.

They seek a ruling on disposal of more than $32,000 contributed to the little six-year-old girl when she lost both arms at the shoulder in a farm accident two years ago.

Charlene fell on the blades of a horse-drawn hay mower on her father's farm near Rockford. She has since been fitted with artificial arms. She goes to school and is as active as many normal children.

Her father, Merle Fisk, paid all bills himself for her medical and surgical care. The money contributed by sympathetic donors has been held in trust since the accident.

Filing the "friendly suit" were Nina Babcock, Joseph Winkard, David J. Johnson and William Rogers, all of nearby Sparta. They ask the court to determine how the money shall be paid to Charlene.

Orphaned Youth to Get Illinois Home

Wichita, Kans., Oct. 14—(AP)—A new home in Marion, Ill., awaited 13-year-old Carl G. Bricker of Medical Lake, Wash., today.
Carl's mother, Mrs. Bonnie Funston, 42, died of a cerebral hemorrhage Monday night soon after they arrived in Wichita from Spokane, Wash.
Temporarily, Carl is staying in the home of a Wichita detective, Preston Gunter.
Carl told police his mother came to Kansas to get a divorce from his stepfather, David R. Funston of nearby Cambridge.
Detective Capt. R. B. Price said Funston told police he could not care for the boy. But Price added an uncle, Monroe Swafford, of Marion, Ill., called Gunter and asked him to send Mrs. Funston's body to Marion—the family home—for burial.
"And send Carl on the train. He's welcome here. He has a home with us as long as he needs it," Price quoted the uncle as saying.
Authorities are seeking Funston's permission to send his wife's body to Marion.

Farm Machinery Output This Year Hits Record Peak

Washington—(AP)—The agriculture department predicts farm machinery output this year will hit a record and probably will remain at top levels in 1949.
In its semi-annual report on general farm costs, the department said 1948 production of farm equipment is expected to exceed the 1947 peak by 15 per cent.
At the same time, the department disclosed in a long-range study of mechanized farming that farmers in the corn belt and plains states are steadily getting closer to 100 per cent dependence on tractor power.
Sound Warning Note
The survey said American farmers, particularly those in the midwest, have been turning to motive power at an unparalleled rate during the last 10 years.
The department's short-run farm cost report offered a note of warning on this trend:
"There are now indications that the advantage of changing from animal to motive power in 1949 may be somewhat less than in recent years."
"Along with the large crops of 1948, there has been a substantial decline in feed prices. On the other hand, prices of farm machinery in 1948 reached record highs and retail prices of motor fuel were the highest in more than a quarter of a century. Prices of these items will continue high in 1949."
More Tractors Out
Most of the 1948 increase in output over 1947 will be in tractors and tractor machines, said the department. Adequate supplies of dairy and poultry equipment are reported in most areas and this year's production may show little change over last year.

As for farm automobiles and farm motor trucks, the department said that this year there are about 20 per cent more on farms than in 1946. "This was the largest increase of any two-year period," it added.
The department's long-range review said tractor power performs 96 per cent of the plowing work in the four plains states—the Dakotas, Nebraska and Kansas. In the five corn belt states—Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa and Missouri—the percentage is 92 per cent.

San Pedro, Calif., Oct. 14—(AP)—After 50 years, James Rose, used car salesman, got his dollar back, but it wasn't worth nearly as much.
Rose loaned a dollar to John Wertz, grocery clerk, in St. Louis Mo., July 7, 1898.
Yesterday Rose, now 69, got a letter from his brother in St. Louis saying Wertz had looked up the brother, given him the buck and asked him to forward it.

How to Celebrate Your Wedding Anniversary

The "Dutch" Millers celebrated their 15th Wedding Anniversary Saturday. Everything had to be tin. Folks even ate off tin plates, and drank coffee out of tin cups.
When it was time to drink a toast to the "bride and groom," out came the final touch: ice cold beer in cans. And come the Millers' 15th anniversary (Glass) I expect we'll be toasting them with sparkling beer in bottles!
And I couldn't help thinking that there was a lesson for married folks in the way Dutch and his

Progs Get Quick Hearing on Ballot

Washington, Oct. 14 (AP)—A quick hearing by the U. S. Supreme court will be given to Progressive party forces attacking an Illinois law which it says is keeping the party off the state's election ballot.
The high court said it would hear the case Monday. Briefs are to be filed by Saturday.
Curtis D. MacDougall, Progressive candidate for senator and others requested the hearing.
The court was asked to declare unconstitutional an Illinois law requiring that at least 50 of the state's 102 counties must be represented by at least 200 names each on a nominating petition.
The petition also sought an order requiring election officials to put the name of Progressive presidential candidate Henry A. Wallace on the ballot.

Earlier this week, a special three-judge federal court held the law constitutional. The special court refused to change rulings of state election officials in the case.
The Progressive party claims that constitutional rights of equal protection are violated by the Illinois law.
The petition asked a decision in the case by the end of next week. Normally, the Supreme court takes a month or more on such cases.

GOP Campaign Fund Still is Million Short

New York, Oct. 14—(AP)—GOP National Committee Chairman Hugh D. Scott, Jr., says the national Republican campaign fund is still $1,500,000 short of its goal.
Scott said yesterday the national committee's quota was $3,000,000 with another $400,000 needed for the senatorial campaigns and $600,000 to aid congressional candidates.
Analysis shows that there is no great difference in the nutrient content of light-shelled or dark-shelled eggs.

CUYLER NEW COACH
Baker Latest To Go
in Red Sox Shakeup

Boston, Oct. 14—(AP)—It's almost a cliché bet Boston Red Sox owner Tom Yawkey, Vice President Eddie Collins, General Manager Joe Cronin, and Manager Joe McCarthy will be around next season—but don't bet on anyone else except possibly some of the better players.

Yawkey couldn't hide his disappointment over losing the American League pennant, and much of the blame is being passed around to Sox and farm officials.

The shakeup in the Sox organization which began before the club was beaten out in an unprecedented playoff appears likely to continue.

Three members of the organization are gone and the Sox, rejecting all questions, indicate the three resigned.

The three disagree and say, in effect, "We didn't jump, we were pushed."

Latest to go is Del Baker, veteran coach and onetime Detroit Tiger manager, who will be replaced by Hazen (Kiki) Cuyler, erstwhile star National league outfielder and more recently a Southern Association manager. Cuyler played under McCarthy when the latter managed the Chicago Cubs.

The Sox office, reporting the change, said Baker had resigned. At his San Antonio, Tex., home Baker retorted he had been dismissed in a telephone conversation with Cronin.

George (Specs) Toporcer also said he wanted "to stay in baseball" after the Sox said that he

Merit Raise Issue Cleared for Bosses

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, Oct. 14 (AP)—Can an employer grant a merit raise to an employee without consent of the union representing his workers?

There may be a brief answer to that question because the U. S. Supreme court has ruled on it this week.

The court ruled that an employer cannot be ordered to bargain with a union if it has already bargained with the National Labor Relations board (NLRB).

To understand the ruling, it is necessary to go back a year or so. In 1946, the NLRB had been ordering employers to bargain with unions for several years.

But the Supreme court, in a decision last June, held that the NLRB's order was not binding on employers who had already bargained with the union.

In 1946, after the NLRB had ordered an employer to bargain with a union, the employer refused to do so.

It was then that the NLRB ordered the employer to bargain with the union, and the Supreme court ruled that the NLRB's order was not binding on the employer.

The court's ruling in the present case is based on the fact that the NLRB had already ordered the employer to bargain with the union.

The court said that the NLRB's order was not binding on the employer because the employer had already bargained with the union.

The court's ruling is a victory for employers who want to grant merit raises without the consent of the union.

The NLRB said the boss was wrong. It said merit raises are wages and an employer must bargain about them.

The law doesn't say an employer must agree to what a union wants when it bargains. But at least he must bargain about wages.

In this case the company thought the NLRB was wrong and appealed to the U. S. Circuit court.

of Appeals to overrule the NLRB. But the court upheld the NLRB.

The company then took its case to the U. S. Supreme court to overrule the Circuit court and the NLRB.

The Supreme court ruled in favor of the company, saying that the NLRB's order was not binding on the employer.

So the NLRB ruling stands, and the company can grant merit raises without the consent of the union.

Q. Can an employer grant a merit raise to an employee without the consent of the union?

A. Yes, if the employer has already bargained with the union.

Q. What if the employer has not bargained with the union?

A. Then the NLRB can order the employer to bargain with the union.

Mrs. Roxie Angell, 62, of Alexandria, Ill., may soon trade her tomato-canning job for a new one. She has said she will inherit part of the $200,000 John O'Brien estate but still keep on working "at least until the end of the tomato-canning season."

The non-workers applies to the union workers too. When a union is in a position to bargain, it is a union's bargaining cover.

Q. Suppose a union represents only a majority of the employees in a place say only 51 out of 100. Can an employer give the non-union workers merit raises?

A. Yes just as he is free to give his union workers raises—provided he has no union contract covering merit raises. But once he signs such a contract, anything in that contract that applies

all the employees, union and non-union alike.

Q. But suppose a union contract covering merit raises and the union as a whole is not those who get the raises?

A. Yes. The NLRB says the boss must supply raises to all those who have done the work and has no contract to the contrary.

Pamela Undergoes 2nd Operation Tomorrow

Chicago, Oct. 14 (AP)—Two-year-old Pamela Lampore today submitted to the second of three operations to correct a rare bladder malformation.

Pamela was born with a bladder that did not develop in the normal way. The first operation was to correct the malformation.

The second operation was to correct the malformation. The final operation will be to remove the child's non-functioning bladder from her body.

Dr. Meyer estimated Pamela will be able to leave the hospital two weeks after the second operation. She will wait at home until surgeons are ready to perform the final operation, probably in about three months.

Wagon, Minn., Oct. 14 (AP)—Fathers spare their kids because the old woodshed spanking isn't what it's cracked up to be. Instead, use guidance, experts say.

Now, that's what I call good coffee!
A cup of good coffee, savory and mellow, is one of the world's most delicious experiences. And anyone can make it! It takes some care, of course, but it's easy if you follow these simple rules:
It begins with a fine blend of coffee,
Hills Bros. Coffee, that's rich in flavor and really fresh.
It requires a coffee-maker that's sparkling clean. A quick rinse with hot water is not enough. A good rule is to wash your coffee-maker with soap and water every time you use it. When it gets battered and brown beyond cleaning, you'll be doing your coffee a favor
if you replace the old coffee-maker with a new one.
It depends on accurate measuring of water and coffee and careful timing of the brew. For coffee rich in flavor as well as strength, 2 level tablespoons of coffee are recommended for each 6 oz.
cup of water.
Coffee should be in contact with water for a definite length of time, depending on the type and capacity of the coffeemaker, as well as the strength of beverage desired. After the correct timing has been determined, stick to it, otherwise results will not be uniform.
Coffee is at its best when you serve it fresh-made and piping hot (the delicate flavor is injured by cooling and reheating). . . and when it has been brewed in a maker of proper size (you can't make 2 cups of satisfying coffee in an 8-cup maker).
Made correctly, Hills Bros. Coffee brings you a wonderful goodness that's deliciously its own. It's a blend of the world's finest coffees, and "Controlled Roasting," an exclusive Hills Bros.
process, assures uniform flavor in every pound. The fragrant freshness of Hills Bros. Coffee is treasured in vacuum-packed jars and cans.
What kind of coffee-maker do you use... coffee-pot • percolator • vacuum-type maker • drip pot?
Hills Bros. tell you how to get the best results with any type of coffee-maker in the 28 page booklet—"The Art of Coffee-Making." Send the coupon below for your free copy.

Russia's Vishinsky Stages a Diversion in His UN Palaver

His Peace and Good-Will Theme Fails to Ring True, However

By DEWITT MacKENZIE (AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

A most remarkable spirit of Russian "peace and good-will" descended for a time on the deliberations of the United Nations meeting in Paris yesterday when Soviet Deputy Minister Vishinsky abandoned his customary oratorical invective and declared Communists "are yearning for cooperation."

That was an amazing back-flop which naturally gave rise to speculation as to its significance. What could have caused such an abrupt change? Of course the non-Communist countries on the social committee had appeared Russia the previous day by the withdrawal of an amendment to the declaration on human rights saying that all human beings are "endowed in the image and likeness of God."

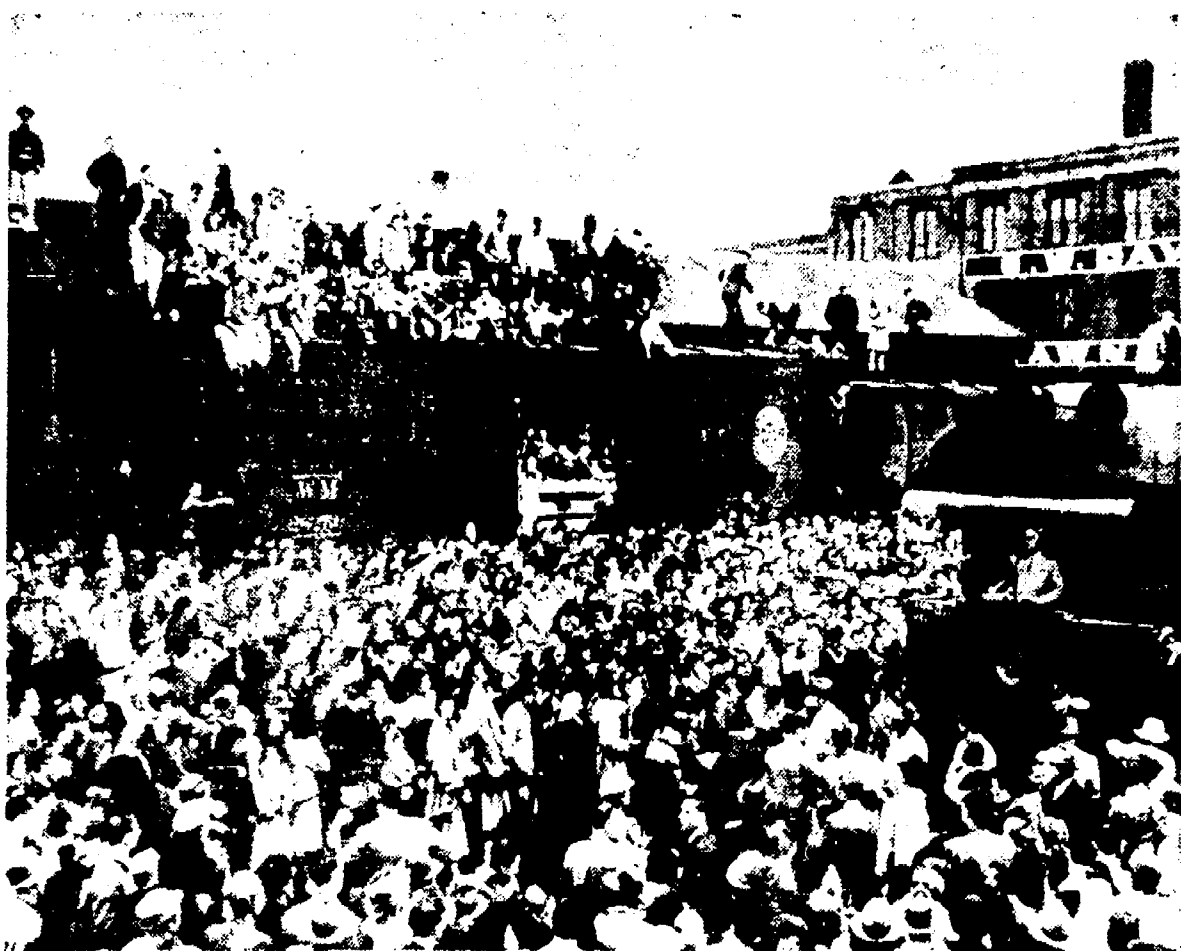

Russia's Alexei Pavlov had objected to such language. He said in the Soviet Union the postulate that man is created in God's image is "much disputed" and often regarded as "a certain sign of social backwardness." Had he seen fit he might have repeated the Red slogan that "religion is the opium of the masses" or he could have quoted the great Lenin as declaring: "We, of course, say that we do not believe in God..." But he spoke with kindly tolerance of western ignorance, and the reference to God was eliminated.

However, it could hardly have been this striking appeasement which influenced vitriolic Vishinsky. A British spokesman summed the thing up for reporters rather more prosaically when he said the offensive by the western powers in the security council had "kept Vishinsky fairly subdued." The spokesman was referring to the charge laid before the council by the western powers that the Soviet blockade of Berlin is a threat to peace. He explained that the deputy foreign minister had been put on the defensive, and said the western powers feel sure the course they are following will in the end make Russia change her policies in Germany.

Vishinsky's rather conciliatory speech followed a hardening of the American attitude. This stiffening came on the return of Secretary of State Marshall from Washington where he conferred with President Truman and it was decided that it would be unwise to pursue a suggestion that Chief Justice Vinson be sent to Moscow to try to reach an understanding with Stalin personally. Britain and France joined America in a drive to speed up action in the council on the charges against Russia in the matter of the blockade.

Vishinsky's speech came after a broadside from U. S. Delegate Warren Austin in the UN assembly political committee. Austin asserted that the Soviet battle cry in the world today is "wreck and

Minister Gives Him a Bone

Anthony Irion, 4½, of Pennsauken, N. J., rests in St. Luke's Medical Center in Philadelphia after a bone from a minister's hip was grafted into his arm. Anthony faced the loss of his arm because of a tubercular bone. Rev. Edward C. Erle, Pennsauken Baptist minister, volunteered for the bone graft surgery.

destroy." He charged Moscow with duplicity.

Vishinsky, instead of trying to tear his opponent limb from limb, as is his usual procedure, adopted an attitude of injured dignity. He complained that the western nations believe "whatever we do is wrong." He said to accuse the Soviet delegation of provocation would "be ludicrous if it was not so sad." The Russian proposal for a one-third arms reduction and scrapping of atomic weapons was under consideration, and Vishinsky demanded dramatically: "Can you deny that the Soviet proposal contains not an iota of a shadow of a hint of an attack on anybody?"

The speaker capped that by declaring that capitalist and Communist ideologies could live side by side in the same world "if both sides try to understand the other side. Hence our desire to cooperate." He didn't explain how this fitted in with the cardinal Communist tenet that capitalism must be wiped out. All of which strikes me as meaning merely that Russia is under pressure and consequently is staging a tactical diversion. There is no real sign that she has changed her views in the slightest degree. She is merely responding to two-sided methods, which are the only thing she understands.

Napoleon nearly was born an Englishman. It was just before his birth, in 1769, that the controversy between England and France over possession of Corsica was settled in favor of France.

Nevada People Can't Tell the Time of Day

Reno, Oct. 14—(AP)—Travelers in Nevada have an awful time these days, trying to find out what time it is.

Because many areas of the state do not approve of continuing Daylight Saving time during fall and winter months, motorists, traveling from Salt Lake City to Reno via highway 50 have to make the following changes in their watches:

At Ely, on the state's eastern border, they set their watches back one hour for Pacific Standard time; about 100 miles west, they return to Pacific Daylight time for Austin and Eureka. At Fallon, they go back an hour to Standard time again, starting next Sunday. And finally, in Reno, the time reverts to Daylight time.

Sonny Wisecarver's Marriage Hits Snag

Las Vegas, Nev., Oct. 11—(AP)—Ellsworth (Sonny) Wisecarver's latest marital try has hit a snag.

His 18-year-old wife, Betty, is reported to have gone home to mother and Sonny, 19, took a hotel room yesterday.

Sonny is the boy who eloped at the age of 14 with Mrs. Elaine Monfredi. A year later he eloped again — this time with Mrs. Eleanor Deveny. His Yuma marriage to Mrs. Monfredi was annulled. In the Mrs. Deveny case, no wedding ensued.

Wisecarver and his present wife were married last year in St. George, Utah.

Asked if they had separated, Mrs. Wisecarver said:

"I won't say yes and I won't say no."

Note to Probers: This Fellow Claus, Who is He, Really?

Boyle Thinks Kris May Bear Watching in
The Future

By HAL BOYLE
New York — (AP) — The question this Christmas isn't whether the children will continue to believe in Santa Claus.

It's whether Santa Claus can go on believing in himself. Every year he must be finding it more difficult.

No figure of modern times—except perhaps Mother Goose—has had a harder time keeping his self-confidence than the fun-loving saint. He has more critics than a French premier, and season after season he is finding himself cabined, crimped and confined by more restrictions.

Take 1947—a really tough year for Santa. Psychologists issued stern warnings that he could damage a child's whole personality by giving him the wrong gift.

And the saint was brought under municipal ordinance. In one place he was forbidden to show up at department stores for his usual pre-season warmup if he had taken a shot of rock-and-rye to guard against pneumonia. In some cities he had to have his beard fireproofed. In others they turned the flit gun on the old man—his whiskers had to be 99 and 44/100 per cent pure.

The approach of the 1948 season finds new hurdles, hedges and barriers in the path of the red-suited man of good will. Mr. Claus must promise to quit promising the moon to children. And his voice is being de-boomed. The 1948 Santa no longer will bellow—"Ho! ho! ho!" He will titter—"Tee, hee, hee."

These new points were decided on this week at a one-day training school for Santa Clauses held at—of all places—the Waldorf-Astoria hotel. Nineteen Kris Kringles showed up—most came by taxicab—as well as a number to child psychologists and parent education experts.

The conferees, all former children themselves, pretty well agreed that for years Santa's booming laugh has been so loud it startled many lipping small fry. So that Christmas tradition is out. And the Santas present, in order to get a gilt-edged diploma certifying they were fit to deal "intelligently and sympathetically" with children, also had to pledge "to make no promises unless they can be fulfilled."

The prospect for 1949 and the years to come looks even bleaker for Santa Claus.

For if this old soft-hearted scalawag is really to fit himself into the pattern of the atom age, there are a lot more changes to be made.

Why, for example, should the idol of childhood remain a fat man? Too much fat is unhealthy. Santa Claus is going to have to go on a diet, train off his blubber and put on some good solid muscle. Spraying his whiskers with DDT is only a temporary measure. He's going to have to whack off those germ-catchers, get rid of his 5-o'clock shadow permanently. The best he can hope to hold on to is a mustache.

And dear old Santa is going to have to mend his past—and perhaps change his clothing. Why do you suppose he wears that red suit? Did you know that Santa Claus isn't merely the patron saint of virgins and children? He's also the adopted patron saint of seafaring men, thieves, and—yes—Russia.

What is he doing up there at the North Pole anyway? Just toying around? This fellow Claus will bear a lot more looking into. He's got plenty to explain—this mysterious stranger, who comes and goes in the night.

Yanks in Germany Get Their Sears Catalogs

Chicago, Oct. 14—(AP)—American troops and civilians in Germany will get copies of Sears, Roebuck & Company's Christmas catalog this week—just as soon as it is available to the home folks.

The first batch of 7,000,000 copies was in the mail today for customers in the nation's towns and on the farms. But distribution of the gift book, largest ever issued by Sears, has already begun in the American zone in Germany.

A shipment of catalogs was sent to Frankfurt by plane several days ago.

The 1948 Christmas catalog contains 310 pages—24 more than last year.

A French inventor, Nicholas Jacques Conte, is considered the father of the modern pencil.

Orphans Home Won't Lose in Embezzlement

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 11 (AP)—The Lutheran's orphans' home here has been assured it will not lose $15,000 embezzled from its account with the Mercantile-Commerce National bank. Bank President Gale Johnston has asserted the home will sustain no loss.

Johnston's statement followed the arrest of Adolf H. Hansen, former bank vice-president and long time treasurer of the orphan's home. The Federal Bureau of investigation said Hansen told them the orphans' home's account was short but denied any shortage in the bank's funds.

Hansen posted $2,500 bond for his appearance before U. S. Commissioner John A. Byrne at a hearing was set for Oct. 21.

Follow the Leader to Death

A peaceful stretch of Florida beach turned into a whales' graveyard as 44 pilot whales beached themselves nine miles north of St. Augustine. Some of the monsters, ranging from 5000 to 6000 pounds, are shown here. Observers say they committed suicide by "following the leader" who flopped up on the beach.

Red-Tinged French Strikes Grave Peril to Nation, Aid Plan

New Cominform Assault Strikes European Defenses, Too

By DEWITT MacKENZIE
AP Foreign Affairs Analyst

The Ulysses Marshall plan no sooner gets free of one danger than it is beset by another, a fresh threat being the Communist-led French strikes which Premier Henri Queuille warns are assuming the character of a rebellion.

Those are grave words to come from the leader of a major government.

Acting under cover of the smoke-screen provided by the Red blockade of western Berlin, the Bolsheviks have organized and got under way this new offensive which is further disrupting the already chaotic French economy.

Minister of the Interior Jules Moch charges that the strikes are engineered by the Cominform.

The Cominform is the successor to the Comintern, the general staff for world revolution which Moscow "abolished" in 1943 because of fierce objection to it by the democracies.

The Cominform apparently began organizing the present upheaval last July and French fifth columnists have laid the ground-work for the sabotage methodically.

French industry is being dealt a body blow by the coal strike that already has cost the recovery program 1,000,000 tons of fuel which is worth it weight in pearls. A railway strike is beginning to get a grip on the throat of national transportation.

Thus two vital elements of the French life-stream—fuel and transportation—are endangered. Without them the country would be helpless.

Obviously this new assault is aimed at the European recovery program. However, that is far from being the whole story, for dependent on that program is the military defense of western Europe against further Communist aggression.

France is the key continental nation in the western European alliance comprising Britain, France, the Netherlands, Belgium and Luxembourg. With France hamstrung the alliance would be weakened to the point of ineffectiveness. If the powerful Communist party of Italy should at the same time make good its boast of being able to take over control of that strategic country the Russians would be in a position barometer by which to tell how the storm goes.

Apropos of this thought, Britain issued a white paper blaming the breakdown in the Berlin crisis on a Russian desire to undermine the recovery of western Europe. This paper declared:

"The Soviet government has no intention of reaching agreement save on its own terms."

This being the case, it is a fair guess that Moscow has been deliberately stalling to see how the French strikes progress. Should things worsen in France we may be sure the Russians will capitalize the situation and become more exacting in their demands. So for the time being France is a

Confident Air Lift Can Whip Winter

Berlin, Oct. 14—(AP)—American officials are confident United States and British efforts can fly an average of 6,000 tons of supplies a day into Berlin throughout the winter if the Soviet blockade persists.

The U. S. Air Corps said several hundred reserve pilots and engineers who volunteer will be assigned to the Berlin air lift after receiving special training at Great Falls, Mont.

British engineers announced plans to lengthen the runways at Gatow air base, their field in Berlin, from 1,500 to 2,000 yards, so that operations can be stepped up.

The Americans will place Douglas Globemaster transports in regular shuttle service over the Atlantic, carrying special high priority cargo from Westover field base

Illinois Couple Hurt Fatally in Santa Fe

Santa Fe, N. M., Oct. 14—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Chester A. Stanley, of Olney, (Richland county), Ill., were injured fatally Sunday night in an automobile accident 15 miles east of Santa Fe.

The Stanleys were en route from Gallup, N. M., where they celebrated the birthday of a son, D. L. Stanley, to the Clayton, N. M., home of a daughter, Mrs. Wesley W. Cook.

Mrs. Cook and her two children were hospitalized at Santa Fe.
